Security tightened on bridge

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

MADISON — It has gotten much tougher to climb onto the old Chain of Rocks Bridge, and those who do will be vigorously prosecuted.

Illini Carrier, a gas pipeline company that is leasing the bridge, has blocked each end of the old Mississippi River span with a large chain-link fence topped with barbed wire and razor wire.

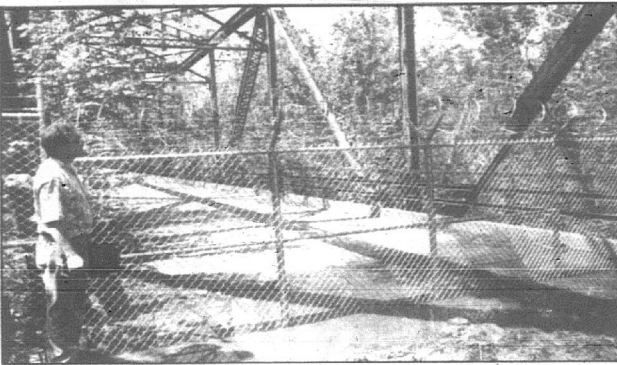

The fences extend past the edges of the bridge to keep people from climbing around them. New "no trespassing" signs have been erected.

Security on the bridge came under fire April 5 after 19-year-old Robin Kerry and her sister, Julie Kerry, 20, of north St. Louis County were robbed, sexually assaulted and then either thrown or forced off the bridge into the river 90 feet below.

Two men, Marlin Gray, 23, of Wentzville and 19-year-old Reginald Clemons of Northwoods, have been charged by St. Louis Police with second-degree murder, rape, robbery and felonious restraint.

Each man is being held in lieu of $200,000 bond in the St. Louis City Jail, authorities said. The sisters' bodies have not been found.

Representatives of Illini, the City of Madison, which owns the bridge, and Madison County Sheriff Bob Churchill and Chief Deputy Raymond Calloway, responsible for patrolling the bridge area, met Wednesday at the Madison City Hall to discuss security problems on the bridge.

At the meeting, Churchill agreed to coordinate patrols of the bridge with the 6th District of the St. Louis Police Department and arrest any trespassers.

Illini Carrier agreed to actively prosecute any violators and to appear in court in all cases involving the bridge.

The new barriers were put into place Saturday. By Monday, vandals had already cut through the barbed and razor wire on the Missouri side, but Illini replaced it almost immediately.

By Wednesday, the new signs had been stolen from both ends of the bridge, but they were also replaced.

Illini also agreed to replace and weld shut about a half-dozen manhole covers missing from the bridge deck. The now-open manholes, which lead to small open platforms hanging above the river, were for access to telephone lines.

On Wednesday, Bill Boss, spokesman for Torch/Rubicon Venture Inc. in Houston, the parent company of Illini Carriers, said he wanted to stress that none of these actions

Land price skyrocketed

TIF cost jumps 52 percent

By Bob Slate

PONTOON BEACH — The purchase price paid by the village for property in the Chouteau Trace TIF district increased by more than 52 percent in less than three months, records show.

On April 7, 1988, the purchase price for approximately 8.24 acres of land in the area was $380,000, the records show. On June 26 the same year, however, the village agreed to pay BTL Enterprises Inc., owned by the Stan Lucas family, $580,000 for the land — an increase of $200,000 in less than three months.

The village has since approved more than $100,000 in attorney costs and related expenses on the same property, the Press-Record has learned.

The property consists of a 2.75-acre park and easements and rights-of-way for public improvements on another 5.49 acres, according to village records. Lucas however, says the property is more than 20 acres.

An estimate of redevelopment costs associated with the TIF (tax increment financing) district, listed in Village Resolution 88-03, includes $380,000 payable to BTL Enterprises Inc. for the purchase of public lands. The resolution was adopted April 7, 1988, pending OK from bond counsel, Lewis Greenbaum, of Katten, Muchin and Zavis in Chicago.

The bond counsel, however, rejected the proposed expenditures in 88-03, citing what he called an excessive percentage of expenditures for city/legal fees, according to Village Clerk Mary Warren.

The village subsequently passed Resolution 88-05 on June 26, 1988. It listed $580,000 for purchase of public lands, payable to BTL Enterprises Inc.

Warren said the two resolutions deal with the same property, and she does not know why the price increased so much.

Efforts were made to contact other Pontoon officials regarding TIF expenditures. They did not return numerous phone calls over a week-long period.

According to Lucas, however, (See LAND, Page 8A)

Rail strike short-lived

GRANITE CITY — A last-minute bill passed by Congress and signed by President Bush early Thursday appears to have ended fears of a long railroad strike.

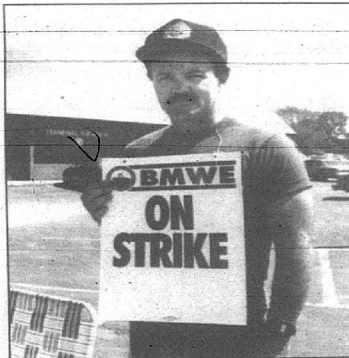

The strike ended in less than 24 hours.

The last-minute arrangement calls for 65 days in which key issues of dispute between railroads and unions must still be resolved. Locally, pickets were outside the Terminal Railroad Association building on Madison Avenue bright and early Wednesday morning.

Contract talks between the railroads and the unions fell apart Tuesday evening and about 235,000 railroad freight workers went on strike.

"Nobody really wanted to go on strike. No one really wins, we lose wages, the company loses productivity and in the end the consumer loses, too," said Don Stogner of Belleville, a union heavy-equipment operator in the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees.

Rabies shots may have to start today

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

MADISON — A 4-year-old Madison boy will probably begin a series of anti-rabies shots today, following the community's unsuccessful attempts to locate the black Labrador-type dog that attacked him Sunday.

Zachary Judkins, of the 900 block of Iowa Street, was severely mauled by a fairly large black dog on Sunday in the front yard at his home.

The youngster was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center after being brought to the emergency room by his mother, Sandy Judkins, at 5:51 p.m. Sunday. He was released from the hospital Wednesday afternoon.

His mother said in a televised report last night that she expected the rabies shots would begin today at SEMC.

Upon his return home Wednesday, the boy, with heavy gauze on both hands, was running and jumping and acting much like any other youngster that age. "If not worse," his mother joked.

Zachary's fourth finger on the left hand was amputated at the first joint in the attack.

The third finger was partially amputated at the end and the lower part of the finger also was injured.

A large laceration scarred the index finger, with the nail and finger-end split to the first joint.

Dr. Craig McKee, a plastic surgeon, reattached the fourth finger during surgery on Monday and repaired other damage.

McKee and Zachary's other doctors were conferring Wednesday morning to decide what was best for the child prior to admin

Nightmare begins ...

Nameoki work will last 2 more years

GRANITE CITY — The Nameoki Road driving nightmare has only begun, according to Public Works Director Brett Hanke, who says it will last at least two more years.

The project, being done by the Illinois Department of Transportation, will widen the road and add a "suicide" turn lane down the center.

"During the next two years, it's going to get a lot worse as far as temporary traffic problems go," Hanke said. "The end product will be a lot better, though. In the long run, I'm sure it will be worth all the trouble."

Hanke said he is glad it is the state, and not him, running the project.

"But the rehabilitation is something that absolutely had to be done," Hanke said. "Traffic has overloaded that road for years, as was obvious to anyone trying to drive there. After a few months of driving on a rehabilitated Nameoki Road, he said, drivers will be able to forget all about the two-year's worth of hassles during construction."

"At least let's hope so," he added.

March to start victims' event

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — On Sunday morning, Vince and Annette Scrum will carry flowers to the middle of Eads Bridge and, in memory of their murdered son, Todd, toss them in the water.

This is the third year the Scrums have made the journey.

On Sunday, they will be joined by hundreds of other victims of violent crime who will be marching from both sides of the Mississippi River at 8 a.m. The march, sponsored by the Bi-State Victims Net Program, will serve as the opening ceremony for Victims' Rights Week in both Missouri and Illinois.

"We encourage people to participate," Annette Scrum said. "It's a way of having their voice heard."

"Sometimes it seems like you become victims not only of crime, but of the system as well. Victims' rights have come a long way, but legislators need to be reminded."

Todd Scrum, a 21-year-old Granite City college student, was murdered by a "highway sniper" on Interstate 270 in 1987 as he was driving home from a party in Edwardsville. Gene Arnett was later convicted and sentenced to 40 years in prison. Arnett has appealed the sentence and the appeal is still pending.

The Scrums are active in the Parents of Murdered Children group and are well-known in Madison County as advocates of victims' rights.

"One of the great things about the march the past two years is that it made victims and families aware they can do something," Annette Scrum said.

"People who may not have been involved in any group or forum have come out and heard there

Interim riverboat-casino likely at Alton in July

The Alton Riverboat Gambling Partnership has been praised by the top Illinois Gaming Board administrator for the way it has been preparing to establish a floating casino.

The partnership, which includes Lance Callis of Granite City, hopes to begin operating a riverboat at Alton this summer. On April 16, Alton Administrator Morton E. Friedman wrote to Alton Mayor Edward Vourmand, "I want to take this opportunity to clarify for you and the members of the Alton City Council the comments that were made at the most recent meeting of the Illinois Gaming Board."

Board Member Johnson questioned the proposal by Alton Riverboat Gambling Partnership to go into service in July of 1991 and its plans to start with a boat smaller than originally proposed. Before the Alton Partnership announced its plans to place an interim boat in service, I personally discussed the matter with Tom Long. He disclosed to me the intent of the partnership to begin service with a smaller boat and I immediately indicated to him my acquiescence in that plan.

"We both felt it would be in the best interest of the State of Illinois, Alton and the partnership to place a boat in operation as soon as possible."

"While we did discuss the fact that board approval would be required for such a change, I did not finalize with Mr. Long the process nor the time schedule for the submission of such a request. It would have been inappropriate for Mr. Long to have communicated directly with the board."

"The administrative issue has been resolved. Mr. Long has volunteered to file a written report every 30 days of his operational plans, and that report will be utilized by my office to submit information to the board."

"I anticipate that the formal partnership request to commence operations with a smaller boat will be submitted to the Gaming Board immediately and if the partnership plans remain as they have been represented to me, I would anticipate that I will recommend approval of their plans to the Gaming Board."

"With regard to the withdrawal of Jimmy Connors from the J. Connors Group, Mr. Long discussed the matter with me and gave me his assurance that the shareholders of his corporation would replace the Connors investment."

"I perceive no problem since these shareholders possess substantial financial assets sufficient to replace the Jimmy Connors investment. As in the case of the size of the boat, formal presentation will be made to the board and I anticipate my recommendation of approval."

"We have also worked with the partnership on submission of their internal control and security procedures."

"While the proposed rules give the board staff 90 days to review the proposal, if the proposal can be reviewed in less time the 90-day requirement is not a bar to earlier approval."

"My staff has informed Mr.

Long that they will make every attempt to review his submission in time to accommodate his desired starting date."

"I hope that you and the city council will understand that we are writing rules even at this time. Even though the rules are not final, Mr. Long has constantly responded to our anticipated rules."

"The publicity created has been a reaction to a new agency, a new enterprise, and good faith efforts by all concerned to accomplish the result in as short a time frame as is possible with a minimum of bureaucratic delay."

"I regard the partnership representation as having acted in good faith and as being responsive to staff requests," Friedman wrote.

Auto taken, abandoned nearby

An officer flagged down by a Granite City man at 25th and Iowa streets at 5:15 a.m. April 13 was told the man's car had been taken after he was punched.

Jeff G. Dean said he was a passenger in his 1976 Monte Carlo being driven by a male friend on Madison Avenue.

They were traveling behind a tan Oldsmobile, occupied by three men and two women. When the driver of the Oldsmobile pulled to the curb at 25th Street.

When Dean's car also stopped, three men got out of Olds. They walked back to Dean's car and he was punched in the face. A fight ensued and the man who had been driving Dean's car fled on foot.

At this point, one of the men got into Dean's car and drove away. The other two men returned to the Olds and also left the area. Dean had blood around the nose area and on both hands.

At 4 a.m. April 13, Dean notified police he had located his car at Popeye's restaurant in the 2800 block of Madison Avenue.

Rain-related accident

Miriam A. Taylor, 46, of the 1900 block of Grand Avenue was hurt at 5:31 p.m. April 12 when her car skidded on rain-wet pavement and went off the roadway and down an embankment.

Taylor said she was driving east on Illinois 162. After crossing the railroad tracks east of Maryville Road, she saw several vehicles stopped in the eastbound lane.

Because of the rain, Taylor felt she couldn't stop her car in time to avoid hitting the vehicles in front. So she swerved to the left, went off the road and down the embankment, striking a speed limit sign, she told police. She declined immediate medical attention.

Injured at intersection

William D. Cotter II, 17, of the 2700 block of Joyce Avenue suffered an injury at 3:32 p.m. April 12 when his auto and a car operated by Sara C. Kulier, 18, of the 2200 block of Shirlene Drive collided at St. Clair and Wayne avenues.

Kulier said her vehicle skidded on the wet road after she stopped at a stop sign.

Both drivers had stopped at stop signs prior to the collision occurring, witnesses said.

Charges against pair

Two men from Collinsville were charged following a disturbance at the home of a mutual friend of the pair in the 2400 block of East 24th Street in Granite City.

Mark Anthony Allen, 21, said he and Gene Armond Bovinnett, 21, were visiting the friend when an argument began and they started pushing each other.

Both Allen and Bovinnett fell down steps. Bovinnett allegedly struck Allen in the mouth with his fist. Allen then allegedly struck a window of Bovinnett's vehicle with a wrench.

Bovinnett was booked for battery and Allen was charged with criminal damage to property.

Charges against driver

At 11:15 p.m. April 10, officers were dispatched to Southview Foods, 2690 Nameoki Road, to meet with a cab driver on a hit-and-run accident.

Upon their arrival, Robert B. Baker told officers a gray 1977 Chevrolet Caprice Classic had struck his cab on the driver's side while he was northbound on Nameoki Road north of Pershing Boulevard.

While speaking with Baker, an officer saw a similar car exit Kirkpatrick Homes from Ridgedale Avenue onto Nameoki Road, and then turn into the Southview parking lot.

Lucia M. Foley, 21, of the 600 block of Washington Avenue in Venice was the driver and an officer saw an open can of beer on the floor of the auto.

Foley was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, illegal transportation of alcohol and improper lane usage. She was released on $1200 bail and her driver's license.

Four crossings blocked

The Norfolk & Southern Railroad was issued a summons alleging a train blocked four crossings between 11:30 a.m. and 12:36 p.m. April 10.

An officer reported observing a single train block a crossing at Nameoki Drive for 30 minutes, one at 29th Street for 30 minutes, one at 22nd Street for 25 minutes and one at 20th Street for 26 minutes.

Auto burglar gets tools

Glen Lane of the 2400 block of St. Clair Avenue reported April 12 that a tool box containing assorted tools valued at $300 and a power tool jig saw worth $45 were taken in the burglary of a pickup truck parked in his driveway.

Trash violation alleged

Louis John Spahr, 62, of Miami Court was served a warrant at his home on April 12 alleging there was trash on property in violation of a city ordinance. He posted $100 bail and was released.

Purse missing at school

Rebecca A. Wingeter of the 1500 block of 26th Street reported April 12 that her grey leather purse was missing from a hallway table at the Head Start School, 2100 Edison Ave. In the purse were a check book, keys and $196 cash.

Exchange students allowed limited role in graduation

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Vladimir Milosevic, a 17-year-old Yugoslavian exchange student, will be allowed limited participation in this year's graduation ceremony. In a compromise reached by the District 9 School Board on Tuesday, Milosevic and two other exchange students will be seated at the podium next to the Granite City High School department heads at graduation and will be recognized during the program.

"They will not wear caps and gowns and they will not walk across the stage with the graduates," said Roy Koberna, board president.

Also, we will have a written policy on this issue very soon and from now on. It's long overdue and it will keep the problem from coming up in the future."

Gary Wigger, one of Milosevic's exchange parents, made a presentation to the board, requesting that Milosevic be allowed to graduate and asking that the board adopt a formal, written policy for exchange students.

Wigger said Milosevic, enrolled as a senior, had counted on being allowed to graduate from an American high school. The parents were planning on coming to this country to see him graduate, Wigger said. Only after some acquaintances told him there might be a problem, Wigger said, did he realize Milosevic might not be allowed to graduate.

At that time, Wigger said, he began approaching school administrators and found that, although there was no written policy, it was an "oral policy" that exchange students not graduate.

"One told me, 'The kids are just here to have fun,'" he said. Milosevic, Wigger said, has worked very hard all year and has been an excellent student. He said Milosevic's education is comparable to any other student in the high school and he has made all As and Bs in his classes.

"What happens to a guy who returns home to a socialist/communist country, knowing he worked hard for a whole year and was equal with all his classmates, but was unable to graduate?"

"Is his impression of America only that it's a place where he was denied the opportunity to graduate from the local high school?" Wigger asked.

School Superintendent Gib Walmsley told the board he agreed with Wigger that the district needs to have a written policy. Walmsley said he had a number of problems with allowing exchange students to graduate.

Walmsley said he and Wigger had agreed to have Jack Haug, a counselor at the high school, evaluate Milosevic's transcripts. The evaluation showed Milosevic has not met the requirements for graduation from Granite City High School, the superintendent said.

"If a student born and raised in Granite City does not meet the requirements, the student does not graduate," Walmsley said.

"I've seen it played out hundreds of times: Parents of a student who is an eighth of a credit short come into the office in tears, pleading, 'Can't you just let them walk across the stage and pretend they're graduating?' But it's never happened. No one has ever crossed the stage at Granite City who was not a graduate."

But, Walmsley asked, what would happen if a future exchange student did meet the graduation requirements?

"What if an exchange student is a valedictorian? Would we be willing to give them the $3,000 scholarship that goes with it?"

"Would we be willing to place

Vladimir Milosevic
exchange student

the exchange student in the class rank and bump a Granite City student and maybe take away their opportunity to attend college? ... I have some real problems with this and I think we need a firm policy," Walmsley said.

After Wigger and Walmsley spoke and answered questions from the board, the board agreed to move further discussion of the topic to a closed executive session. There, Koberna said, the compromise was reached.

Foreign student likes school here

GRANITE CITY — Vladimir Milosevic likes the American educational system, but he sees the advantages in the Yugoslavian system as well.

Pressed, he said the American system is "a little better because you can participate in more things and still be in school" while at home school work took up most of his time.

But, Milosevic said, in the areas of physics, chemistry and mathematics, his area of specialty, his home system was much more advanced than he found here. Also, he said, semesters in America are too short.

At Granite City High School, Milosevic is a member of the tennis team and the Junior Engineering Technical Society team and has participated in a number of academic competitions. He will compete at state championship level in mathematics later this month.

Milosevic lives in Cacak, Yugoslavia, about 90 miles from Belgrade. His father is a surgeon and his mother is a banker. He has a 13-year-old brother.

Since arriving in America at the end of last summer, Milosevic has had to depend on television reports to keep abreast of political upheaval in his country where, along with most of Eastern Europe, the long-time Communist government appears to be on the ropes.

"My country is in big trouble and I don't know if (its) system will ever work the same," he said. "It's not pleasant, seeing the people in our country fighting on television. I don't feel very good about it."

Because he is "not there to actually witness what's going on," Milosevic said he is remaining neutral for the time being.

Milosevic said he has enjoyed his stay in America and is very impressed with the American system. Things are cheaper, there are more things available and he feels there is more opportunity here than at home, he said.

But Milosevic said he is not ready to move to America. "Maybe I'll return as a tourist," he said.

Competition largest ever for cleanup

By Dennis Grubaugh
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — More teams are participating in this Saturday's Stash Trash campaign than ever, cleanup sponsors say.

The annual Stash Trash cleanup campaign will begin at 9 a.m. with a preliminary gathering at Wilson Park, followed by the citywide cleanup, which will last until about noon.

Volunteers will then return to the park to share in refreshments and swap stories on who has gathered the most trash.

The format again will be a golf theme in which prizes will be awarded by Laidlaw Waste Systems for trash collected.

Twenty teams are participating this year. A number of other organizations are simply cleaning up as part of community spiritedness, said Shirley Bush of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber's Community Pride Committee is the sponsor. Participating teams are: Mag-na Bank, the Women's Division of the chamber, Coldwell Banker-Star Realty, D.W. Brown Realtors, Crews Realtors, First Assembly of God Church Youth, Rotary Club of Granite City, McDonald's on Johnson Road.

Also, Granite City High School Student Council, Granite City Business and Professional Women, GCHS National Honor Society, Taco Bell, and two teams each from the Charles Melvin Price Support Center, the Chain of Rocks Landfill, Metro East Disposal and Belleville Area College's Granite City Campus.

In addition, many of the neighborhood organizations participating will have their own competition. Kathy Andria of the Maple Street Block Association said her group will be meeting at the Lincoln Place Community Center at 8 a.m. to get an early start.

Many of the organizations involved have opted to have small celebrations in their own areas following the cleanup.

Bush said recycling bins are being placed in several locations to assist the effort. Residents can find them at Oakmont Plaza Shopping Center on Pontoon Road in Pontoon Beach; National Food Store at Madison Avenue and Nameoki Road; Rock's store at Madison and Niedringhaus avenues; and the First National Bank in Madison, Sixth Street and Madison Avenue.

Residents are being encouraged to do their part by maintaining their own properties, Bush said.

Bush also said that a number of nominations have been received by the chamber for the Community Pride Awards, which will be given out monthly beginning in May.

Neighbors are encouraged to nominate persons who have done much to spruce up their neighborhood or their own properties. Nominations should include the name, address and telephone number of the nominee, along with a brief description of why the person should be honored.

Those may be mailed or telephoned in to the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, 1831 Delmar Ave., Granite City, Ill., 62040; 876-8400.

We didn't need a landfill

In overturning a county board decision to allow a large recycling center in the Horseshoe Lake area of Nameoki Township, state officials could see from a distance what local officials couldn't see up close: Madison County does not need another landfill.

The Illinois Pollution Control Board ruled Thursday that some landowners near the proposed site of a 210-acre recycling center were not properly notified before the Madison County Board approved the site in November.

Despite legitimate cries of concern from those worried about the pollutant effects such an operation could have on groundwater, a slim majority of the county board supported development of the project.

With last week's state decision, and unless a successful appeal is made, Environmental Control Systems of Springfield must wait two years before reapplying for a permit to operate the recycling center at the same location.

Environmentalists fought hard to prove their point to state pollution board members, a point that seemed to be ignored by 15 members of the county board, who seemed more intent on focusing on the potential revenue of such a project rather than the effects on wetlands.

The state supported the appeal filed by the Madison County Conservation Alliance, a growing group of preservationists who correctly argued that the developer, ECS, had left too many unanswered questions at previous public meetings.

Madison County's own long-range plan calls for a long-term evaluation of any proposed landfill, and it was clear from the beginning that the ECS proposal was getting little more than a superficial study during deliberations.

Thanks to the state for doing the job the county should have done.

Race will be interesting

Madison County Board district races don't normally draw a lot of attention. But then, most of them don't have Dobrey Slough and a faltering Democratic Party in the middle of them, either.

We expect an interesting series of political moves to develop during coming months as an anticipated race for District 19 materializes for the spring 1992 election between incumbent county board member Frank Laub, Granite City Alderman Jeff Worthen and Precinct Committeeman Helen Hawkins. All three are eyeing the possibilities, giving more than a little bit of luster to what otherwise might be a dull race.

Worthen said he is "exploring the possibility" of running against Laub, but others are pushing his candidacy. He represents a growing faction of disenchantment with current party politics.

And Hawkins, convinced that Laub has not represented the interests of those affected by recent building in the flood-prone Dobrey Slough area, has pledged to push that issue to a conclusion. Her publicity-prone stances have been a radical departure from "traditional" Madison County Democratic politics, played out mainly in small rooms. (Notice, we didn't say smoke-filled.) Hawkins has even said she wouldn't be beyond running as a Republican if she could get her area better represented.

Since all three have long ties to the Democratic Party, one must wonder what will become of this revered form of political entertainment. Laub, the Granite City Democratic chairman, had the support of 34 of 36 committeemen two weeks ago, but still couldn't pull off an election for his friend, Granite City Street Superintendent Mac Warfield.

On the other hand, Hawkins, who has had a strong grassroots following in Nameoki Township for years, pushed Jug Harrison, and he ended up beating Warfield by a fair margin.

The race was supposed to be non-partisan, but we all know the Democrats had an interest. Warfield, once the county Democratic chairman, should have won handily if he really had all those committeemen behind him. But he didn't.

Those are among the many reasons that we anxiously keep our eyes on District 19 this year.

We told you so — almost

I've written before about the pitfalls of journalists. How we say one thing and mean another. I often find that the best source of good humor starts with the press (which some public officials have been saying for years).

Several months ago I came up with a column full of items that almost were printed in the newspaper, saved only by the eagle eyes on our copy desk. At the time I asked those same copy editors to keep looking for similar staff gaffes. And I'm proud to say that they've found plenty.

Following is a collection of tidbits that failed to see print. You might have to look at a couple of them twice; before it dawns on you what's wrong with them. (Then you can understand why a reporter would have submitted copy this way in the first place.)

Before each one is a headline I would have used, had the item been published as written.

For our fine-featured friends: "Directed by Jan Schneider and Marc Lull, the show is designed for adults, but chicken will love it too."

Dog-eat-dog world: "Wittenauer said he enjoys providing Dalmatian puppies from the breeding of his two female dogs to people."

Now that's endurance: "Sam Whitmer, an alderman for more than three decades, will try to serve at least four more."

Is that what their wives think, too? "The tribute to American veterans has seen better days as of late. Starting to rust, the legionnaires decided to restore it."

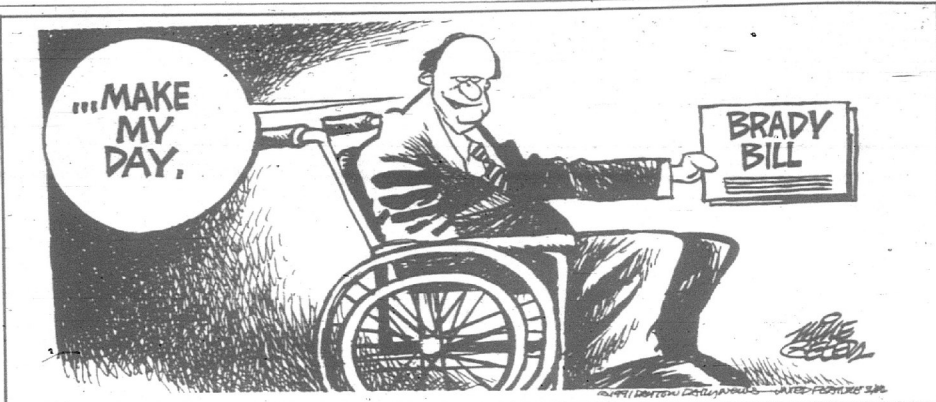

Maybe walls do have ears: "After hearing noises, the front door at the home of Marion McKinzie in the 800 block of Alton Avenue was found standing open, it was reported Dec. 16."

Room with a view: "We found him standing on the fire escape where the baseball players were staying."

Must be a Democrat: "This is long overdue," he said, "I'm behind Bush all the way. That crazy man has to be stopped."

No restaurant's too big: Two attempted thefts of the Columbia and Waterloo McDonald's failed on Monday, Jan. 25, according to authorities.

Don't ignore street problem on Yale

To the editor:

I have recently been seeking information about what course of action needs to be taken to repair the street on Yale Drive.

I called my alderman, Dan Brown, and discussed this problem with him. He said that if he would attempt to bring up the issue to have Yale Drive repaired, it would be "political suicide."

I didn't understand this term, so he explained that because the street needs repair directly in front of his residence, he would be accused of using his political power for his own personal benefit.

Perhaps Mr. Brown should consider using his political power to benefit the voting taxpayers who elected him to his office. Ignoring this problem could be political suicide.

Important to pick up stray animals

To the editor:

I'm writing in defense of our animal pickup people.

Have you ever tried to walk down the street or go outside in your own yard and have other people's dogs there and you can't go outside?

I am a coward when it comes to dogs. You bet your life I'd call for a pickup.

If people kept their animals home you wouldn't have this complaint. These people are only doing their jobs, so quit picking on them.

Dog owners are given time to go get them. People get animals and then let them run loose or worse, turn them out to fend for themselves when they are no longer wanted. The whole situation is sad.

Think about it for awhile. The Association for the Protection of Animals is overcrowded with unwanted animals.

Volunteers praised at St. Elizabeth

To the editor:

Thank you and congratulations to all volunteers. Special thanks to the volunteers at our St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

These volunteers use their God-given talents and skills to do his will. They give their best; they are dedicated. They like people.

They give back what they received: they get personal satisfaction and fulfillment. Not looking for reward, they give of themselves.

These volunteers are considered very essential to the operation of the Medical Center and they are truly appreciated and recognized for their service.

IP bill going up

To the editor:

How many of you got Illinois Power's gift through the mail? Almost a 16 percent raise in your power bill.

I had power tools that I used, until an accident four months ago. We got rid of our swimming pool, and our children are raised and gone, so I assumed that our power bill would go down.

Instead of up.

We are on budget billing but

Illinois Power said that, because of increased usage, our bill would be raised $25 a month. I feel sorry for the people with families still at home, with all the lights, and baths to take.

Camelot Auction was big success

To the editor:

Thank you, thank you, thank you.

Thanks to 79 generous merchants the Metro East area's Camelot Auction was a tremendous success. Over $4,000 net, was raised for the Granite City Optimist Club's Youth Fund.

As we indicated to you earlier, 100 percent of this fund will be used to directly benefit youth of our community.

This will be in the form of scholarships, support for the DARE anti-drug program, softball team sponsorships, oratorical contests, Boy Scouts, and numerous other projects which will develop character and good citizenship among the future leaders of the Metro East area.

Praises paramedics for assist in winter

To the editor:

Thanks to paramedics Allan Harris and Danny Green for your kind and considerate care and help when you picked me up off the ice and took me down the steps with a broken hip to St. Elizabeth Hospital.

I also want to thank the mail person, who brings me postage stamps and "my mail" in a plastic bag hung on my door so I can get it.

I have respite from my heart to all who have assisted me so that I can recuperate at home after surgery.

Remember: It's the child's life

To the editor:

What kind of rights do fathers of divorce have with their children?

Several talk shows in America as well as books and newspapers contain topics on fathers who don't pay support or fathers who just don't care.

I have read several articles, and the more I read the more bitter I become.

Fathers are not all the same. My husband has a son from his previous marriage, and would give everything he had for the child.

For all the mothers out there who encourage their child's relationship with their father, I would like to thank you.

But likewise, to all the fathers out there who are considered worthless or irresponsible, there are in turn several mothers with the same problem.

I would like to hope that, someday, parents will realize they are both special in that child's life. And in the event of divorce or separation, they should remember at one time they both had a child together.

Seems to me that a mother awarded custody or a father awarded custody means nothing. They both created that certain child, so they are both responsible for the child's welfare.

To solve non-payment of support, visitation privileges ceased, arguments over the child, etc., both parents should stop worrying about themselves and remember that it's the child's life.

The child's support, visitation, etc., are set for the benefit of the child, not the parents.

Paramedics vital to future of our city

To the editor:

This letter is a response to recent remarks by Paul Fisk, Third Ward alderman, about the possibility of contracting out the Granite City Ambulance Service. I and many others express concern on the future of Granite City if this is done.

Where does it end?

Next, it will be contracting out the fire and police departments. Everyone I have talked to expresses the same concern. We cannot afford to leave our loved ones in the hands of services that take forever to respond to an emergency call.

Granite City Ambulance has a remarkable reputation of clean, courteous, and most of all, experienced paramedics — with record times of three to five minutes anywhere in Granite City.

I ask you, Mr. Fisk, would you want to wait 20 or 30 minutes (to obtain help) for a loved one of yours? I don't think so.

I suggest you do a survey in your own ward and you will see this is one service Granite City taxpayers cannot do without.

Let's face it, in two or three years some private contracting service might have fees so costly the citizens again would be the victims.

Let's get together. Granite City residents, and stand by our paramedics.

Disabled had right to vote in village

To the editor:

I am a member of the Progressive Action Party and proud to have by name associated with the party. The Progressive Action Party was not asked for comments on what we thought of the disabled being able to vote in Pontoon Beach.

Members of the Concerned Action Party and New Direction Party and the precinct committeewomen of Nameoki Precincts 9 and 10 did not have their names mentioned with the comments in the paper. That is not right. If they believe in what was said, they should let the people know who they are. I was taught if you have any comments or complaints, put your name behind it and stand tall for what you believe in.

The residents of Lyn-Haven and Lewis and Clark Manors work every day, as you and I do.

They have the same right as all Americans do. It is time for the people of Pontoon Beach and all over the world to let the disabled and handicapped people live and do everyday things without questioning their actions.

As a Pontoon Beach resident, I am proud to have the residents of Lyn-Haven and Lewis and Clark Manors in our village. They have the right to live here and vote here.

As a committee member of the Pontoon Beach Library, I would like to invite the residents of Lyn-Haven and Lewis and Clark to the library.

Defend our rights

To the editor:

I am writing about the injustice that is going on. Do the small people of the community have any more rights?

Recently my wife was at a drive-through when a piece of soffit was blown off the building and damaged our '89 Cavalier.

The damage, $600, consists of scratches to the hood, fender and door and a bent antenna.

The manager turned it in to their insurance company and they rejected the claim; they simply would not pay.

When this happens, are there no rights to help protect people and their property? We feel that justice has not been served.

What must we do to get our rights back? We are tired of being taken advantage of. We demand to have the rights back that are properly ours.

Family reunites in California

Kathy Dohnal

Kathy Dohnal covers the Madison-Venice scene for the Press-Record/Journal. She can be contacted at 877-1096.

Bernice C. Crummins of Madison represented St. Elizabeth Medical Center as a volunteer assistant to the American Red Cross Blood Drive April 9 at the Madison High School auditorium.

Billie Bosworth and David Bess have returned from a surprise visit to Redlands, Calif., to celebrate the wedding anniversary of their parents, Ethel and Frank Disabito, on March 26. A Hawaiian Plank dinner was served to the family by their sister, Mary Ann Danzer.

On Easter a family reunion of the five brothers and sisters of the honored couple attended Easter Services at the First Presbyterian Church in Lake Elsinore, Calif. It had been 40 years since the entire family had been together on Easter. Following services a traditional Easter dinner was held at the home of Randall Bess.

Attending were the parents, Ethel and Frank Disabito of Redlands, Calif.; Billie Bosworth of Madison, David Bess of Collinsville, Mary Ann Danzer of Redlands, Randall Bess of Lake Elsinore, Calif., and Larry Bess of Sylmar, Calif. All are former residents of Venice and Madison.

A video of the events was made. Madison Junior Service hosted a taste feast and silent auction on Tuesday, April 9, at the Recreation Center. Irene Orr offered prayer before the meal. The proceeds from the event went to Special Needs for needy school kids.

A wacky hat contest was held. The winners were: first place, Mary Ann Kaminski (first aid hat); second place, Roberta Crawford (flower basket); third place, Dorothy Hatfield (patriotic hat). The three winners are sisters and each received a potted flower as a prize. The 50/50 drawing was won by Paulette Voloski Helton.

Following the silent auction, attendance prizes were awarded. A meeting followed the dinner. Raffle tickets were given to members by President Charlene Voloski Turley. The proceeds will go to Hospice.

The members will have a booth at the 100th anniversary picnic of the city of Madison and also a float in the parade. $100 was donated to Madison High Year Book and $50 to DARE Program for tee shirts. An election of officers for 1991-92 was held. Elected were: Sandy Barnett, president; Carla Voloski, vice president; Donna Hoover, second vice president; Dorothy Hatfield, treasurer; Karen Kaminski, secretary; and Charlotte Voloski Turley, Mary Ann Kaminski, Jean Kostenski, Donna Woodward, board members.

Others attending were Sondra Humphrey, Andrea Bazzell, Christine T. Hatfield, Delores Bosworth, Judith Hoover, Lucille Podnar, Mary Fields, Cindy Hogan, June Reynolds. Kathy

MOTORISTS will see signs like the one above a lot during the next two years along Nameoki Road as construction work continues on a project that will widen a road and add a "suicide" turn lane down the center. The project is being financed by the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Above right, surveyor Mike Wilson locates the center lines for storm sewers to be put in place.

At right, broken concrete is all that remains of driveways that lead into the Belleme Village Shopping Center.

Meanwhile, below, traffic lines up on Nameoki when the right lane was closed to remove the driveways.

Bethesda revival to begin

Maxine Green

Maxine Green covers the Granite City and Nameoki Township area for the Press-Record/Journal. She can be contacted at 831-6256.

Members of the Bethesda Baptist Church, 3035 Nameoki Drive, will be holding a revival at 7:30 p.m. nightly from April 24 through April 27. There will be special music each evening and evangelist Rev. Leon Harvey will be the guest speaker. Music will be directed by David Tripp. Host pastor Rev. Luther Abbott has extended a welcome to the public.

The regular Avon meetings were held this week in the Avon office, with district manager Phyllis Laster presiding. New members were introduced and welcomed. A short video film was shown and a new fragrance introduced. Attendance prizes, door prizes and cash prizes were won by Julie Lotz, Rose Doolen, Elaine Statten, Patty Miles, Maxine Green, Karen Hare, Shelly Feltmeyer and Winnie Pointer. Beauty computers were won by Esther Clement and Bonnie Hunter.

Mrs. Albe Figurines were awarded to Helen Miller and Joan Huelskoetter. First quarter ribbons were awarded to Patty Miles and Cora Nance for #1 and #2 in highest recruiting. Sandy Hamilton received highest in sales and also sales increase. Tommy Myers won #2 for sales increase and Chloe Denny won #2 in sales. Soar Single pins were awarded to Nadine Papp, Beverly Werts, Maria Narvaez and Chloe Denny. Shirley Tillman received a Seasons Plate and Tommie Myers was awarded an Honor Society cup and saucer. Rising Star pins were awarded to Jo Richardson, Sandy Hamilton, Tommie Myers, Debbie McElroy, Clarine Coggins and Elizabeth Amptman. New representatives receiving Rising Star pins were Karen Hare, Hope Belovich and Shelly Feltmeyer. Others attending were Lois Hoy, Carol Gilland, Evelyn Sherman, Dee Sida, Sandy Vail, Sheri Nash, Melissa Snelson, Gerri Clark, Donna Johnson, Colleen Cornelison, Virginia Manning, Gladys Templeman, Lillian Ruegge, Tina Davis, Lenore Wely, Dorothy Laurence, Rosemary Raiston, Mary Lench, Alma Reynolds, Dorothy Alsop, Janice Watson, Karen Taylor, Mary Schmittling, Clara Winter, Dorothy Jones, Donna Juellert, Lori Clement, Tina Lyons, Florence Michaelson and Sharon Watson.

The birthdays of Hassie Jones and Zane Miller were celebrated on Saturday, April 13, at Hartmann's restaurant. Some of the members of the Christian Singles helping them celebrate were Billie McElroy, Margaret Chadwick, Don Kinney, Olive Joyner, Norma Rains, Vickie Harper, Ray Jones, Mary Reed, Dorothy Teller, Bertie Meyenberg, Evelyn Miles and Lenora Cummerford.

Gillham's Six Mile Prairie included beautiful, fertile farm land here

When Georgia Engelke introduced me at a meeting several months ago, she said I was the best-informed local historian, or words to that effect. Actually, I am sure she best fits that description.

Founder of the Old Six Mile Historical Society, she is the curator of the Old Six Mile Museum and devotes much time to both the group and museum. My column last week, "Marquette and Clark's were prominent in the early history of the Metro East region," told of some of this area's earliest happenings. And it mentioned that John Gillham and his five sons in 1802 became the first permanent settlers of Edwardsville Township.

Mrs. Engelke read it and provided the following additional information, for which I thank her.

BORN IN IRELAND IN 1710, Thomas Gillham Sr. in 1730 moved to Virginia with his wife, Mary. They became the parents of four children. After her death, he and his second wife, Peggy, had five children. The family moved to South Carolina in 1763. A son, James Gillham, became the first non-Indian to visit the Goshen area (southwest of Edwardsville), in 1793. The Goshen vicinity was described as including a site west of the bluffs near present-day Mitchell, an unincorporated area of Chouteau Township.

James built a cabin near an Indian mound, located along an extension of Long Lake.

BEAUTIFUL, FERTILE land that he found here was mentioned when he wrote to his relatives in South Carolina.

His oldest brother, Thomas Gillham Jr., and his youngest brother, Isaac Gillham, each with nine children, responded by arriving in Metro East on the last day of 1799.

Two more brothers followed in 1802. John Gillham with 12 children and William Gillham with eight children.

Helped by these arrivals, the population of Goshen Settlement was rising rapidly. John tried to settle along Chokolia Creek but, because of flooding, moved to what is now Wanda. Wanda first was called Gillham, and then Salem.

GILLHAM'S SIX MILE Wet Prairie was a later name for what had been called Big Prairie. William Gillham and his family had settled along Long Lake, where they farmed land on Big Prairie.

In 1805, Isaac Gillham left Goshen and moved to Six Mile, situated six miles east of the Mississippi River and St. Louis. The well dug by Isaac's family was located at what many years later became the Idell Bischoff farm home here.

The Gillhams were Methodists and, by 1802, Methodist Societies had been formed in Metro East.

Circuit-riding preachers traveled to homes to conduct services on Sundays. Religious camp meetings were held at Goshen starting in 1807.

COMMERCE FLOURISHED throughout this area's history. The Gillham families got together and made maple syrup at a maple grove along the bluffs. They built barges and shipped produce—including bacon, chickens, corn and honey—down the Mississippi River to New Orleans.

The families had been well represented in the Revolutionary War, and many Gillhams fought in the War of 1812, which was called the Second War of Independence.

The English encouraged American Indians to attack U.S. settlements, and tragedies occurred at such places as Wood River, where seven persons were massacred on July 10, 1814. After that Indian raid, 22 block houses were built between Wood River and Kaskaskia.

James Gillham served as a spy and traveled between these forts each day. Becoming ill, he died in the spring of 1815 and was buried in a family plot next to the Mitchell Elementary School in Granite City Community Unit School District 9.

BY ACT OF CONGRESS, his widow Anne in 1821 farmed 160 acres of land as compensation for the hardships she and her children endured as Kickapoo Indian captives from 1799 to 1795. James ultimately was able to ransom them for $8,000.

Severe floods in 1821 harmed Wet Prairie farms' wheat and milk production and caused illnesses. As a result, William Gillham and his big family moved to Jerseyville.

Six years after Illinois became a state, a convention party in 1824 introduced a proposal to designate Illinois as a slave state.

Historians wrote that the slave party owed its defeat to the Gillhams and their kinsmen, who cast 500 votes against the plan.

The Madison Church in 1828 and the Six Mile Church in 1830. During Madison County's centennial, on Sept. 16, 1912, bronze tablets were placed in the County Courthouse at Edwardsville by the Ninian Edwards Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, in memory of the Gillham brothers.

The brothers were praised as soldiers of the Revolution who also contributed much to the formation of this county.

(James, John and Isaac Gillham served under their father, Thomas Sr., then 66, at the start of the war in 1776. William also fought in the war. Isaac, an Army scout, was wounded.)

On Oct. 1, 1966, Madison County residents gathered in the Wanda church to honor the Gillhams. After a memorial service, a caravan was formed and traveled to Wanda Cemetery, where places of issue by the U.S. government were unveiled at the grave of each soldier.

Mrs. Engelke spoke at Wanda Cemetery on Aug. 2, 1967, the county's 175th year, giving the history of the Gillham brothers.

Bill would change tax rate procedures

By Joe Carroll
Correspondent

SPRINGFIELD — A bill now before the Senate would give residents of local taxing districts more of a direct say in how heavily they are taxed, supporters of the legislation say.

But a spokesman for Gov. Jim Edgar, who is against the bill, says it would simply enable taxing bodies such as school boards and library districts — to thrust unpopular tax hikes on citizens.

A vote is Edgar's call earlier this year for a 5 percent cap on annual property tax extension increases.

A special session of the General Assembly was convened to consider the governor's request and Republican lawmakers introduced legislation that would require local taxing districts to submit proposed increases of more than 5 percent to a referendum.

Last week, the Senate Revenue Committee approved a similar but separate bill that would require a local taxing body to hold a public hearing before approving any tax increases of more than 5 percent.

At that meeting, a majority of the registered voters present did not support the increase, a districtwide referendum on the proposed increase would have to be held, said Revenue Committee Chairman Richard Luft, D-Ipswich.

This way, local taxing districts will only have to hold a referendum if enough objectors are present at the meeting, rather than forcing automatic referenda every time they want to go over 5 percent," Luft said.

The legislation, sponsored by Luft and Sen. John Cullerton, D-Chicago, would not apply to home-rule municipalities.

A separate bill introduced by Luft in February — shortly after Edgar's call for a 5 percent limit on tax increases — linked passage of the tax extension of the state income tax surcharge, set to expire June 30.

Extension of the surcharge, which brings in an estimated $730 million annually, is not part of the bill just approved by the committee. The committee voted 10-2 to send it to the Senate floor.

"The other proposals (addressing extension of the surcharge) are already out there so I decided to proceed with this and get it out on the floor for debate," Luft said.

Opponents charged the bill would enable school boards and municipalities to fill seats at public hearings with employees and friends who would outnumber dissenters and vote in favor of the tax increases.

"We don't like this bill because it would make it too easy for some officials to stack the room with their people and deny the people of Illinois their right to be heard," said Mike Lawrence, an aide to the governor.

Luft said: "Anyone can pack the room. And anyone can pack a referendum. I don't see any difference. If you get your people there, you are going to win."

Venice vehicle stickers to go on sale May 1

VENICE — City vehicular stickers will go on sale Wednesday, May 1. The 1991 decals will remain the same price as last year's fee at $5 per auto, truck or motorcycle.

Vehicle stickers may be obtained at the office of Comptroller Roseann Koelker in the Venice City Hall, Broadway and Klein Street, on Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m.

All vehicles in Venice require a city sticker. After June 1, each sticker will cost the vehicle owner $5.

Police will be issuing tickets in June to owners of vehicles without a city sticker affixed to their car, truck or motorcycle.

Persons issued tickets then must pay a fine, plus the $5 cost of a sticker.

Catheys set to mark 25th

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Cathey of Granite City will celebrate their 25th anniversary on Saturday in the Fellowship Hall at Calvary Baptist Church, 3000 Washington Ave.

Cathey and the former Carol Avants were married on April 17, 1966, by the Rev. J. Shewmaker at Edwardsville General Baptist Church in Edwardsville.

Cathey is employed at Granite City Steel, where he has worked at the North Plant for 42 years.

The honorees have a daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James (Sherree) Severine, of Granite City, and two sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Scott (Kelly) Cathey of Granite City and Mr. and Mrs. Patrick (Alane) Cathey of Wheaton, Ill.

The Catheys also have three grandchildren, Nicholas and Nathan Severine, and Dustin Cathey, all of Granite City.

Silver party for Graffs

William and Carol Graff celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at a surprise party in the home of Carol Graff's aunt and uncle, Robert and Vi Austin of Granite City.

The room was decorated in silver and white. Family members of the couple brought pictures and mementos to share with the guests.

William Graff and the former Carol Lorentz, both originally from Murphysboro, Ill., were married at the Fort Carson Army Base chapel in Colorado Springs, Colo., by base chaplain, Father Nasser, on March 26, 1966.

The Graffs have resided in Granite City for 24 years. Graff is employed by Union Electric Co., West Alton, Mo. His wife is employed by Crawford Insurance Agency in Granite City.

The Graffs are the parents of two sons, Daniel A. Graff, who attends the University of Wisconsin at Madison, and Jeffrey of Graff, who attends the University of Missouri at Columbia.

Out-of-town guests at the party were: Mrs. P. Fay Lorentz and Kay Prietel and daughter, Tiffany, of Jackson, Tenn.; Steve Burgh of Madison, Wis.; Chris Ashmore of Champaign; Mr. and Mrs. Larry DeBourge of Troy; and Margaret Johnson of Murphysboro.

Correction

In our story last week detailing the planned marriage of Angela Grapins of Clayton, Mo., and Marc Treppier of Florissant, we inadvertently left out the name of the groom-to-be's mother. She is Mrs. Bert Treppier of Bridgeton, Mo. We apologize for the omission.

Births

Lindsay Glenn

Mr. and Mrs. Derek (Anne) Glenn of Granite City are parents of a girl born at 6:05 p.m. March 16, 1991, at Alton Memorial Hospital.

The infant has been named Lindsay Marie Glenn. She weighed 7 pounds, 12 ounces, and was 21 inches long.

Grandparents are Earl and Shirley Glenn of Granite City and Melvin and Marilyn LaBruyere of Kane, Ill.

The couple has one other child, Sean, 4.

Matthew Alexander

Steve and Debbie Alexander of Wood River are parents of a boy born at 9:21 a.m. April 8, 1991, at Alton Memorial Hospital.

The infant was named Matthew Steven Alexander. He weighed 9 pounds, 3 ounces.

The mother is the former Debbie Newman of Granite City. Maternal grandmother is Mary Newman of Granite City.

Paternal grandparents are Don and Eleanor Alexander of Wood River.

Great-grandparents are Dorothy Nierper of Granite City, Eva Webb of Wood River and Shirley Newman of East Alton.

The couple has one other child, Kara Nichole, 2.

'50s dance slated

A '50s and '60s dance will be held from 8 p.m. to midnight on April 26 at the BelAir Bowl, 1703 N. Belt West, Belleville.

Parents Without Partners will sponsor the event. Tickets will cost $4 for members and $5 for non-members. For more information 597-3666.

Borah-Bradley

Loretta Jean Bradley and Gregory Keith Borah were married Nov. 3, 1969, at South Side Assembly of God in St. Louis by the Rev. Dean Gaylen.

The bride is the daughter of James and Marjorie Ash of Granite City and the late C.W. Rusty Bradley, and the groom is the son of Jimmie and Irma Borah of St. Louis.

The matron of honor was Victoria Berger of Boston.

The bridesmaids were Cynthia Wilson and Jennifer Ross, a sister of the bride.

The best man was Andrew Gullion of Rockhill, S.C.

The groomsmen were Steven Reeder and Gregory Eaker.

The flower girl was Tasha Vail-Ash, a sister of the bride.

The ringbearer was John Michael DiPrimo, a cousin of groom. Ushers were Brian Ash of Granite City, James D. Bradley of Victorville, Calif., and Jason Bradley of Alexandria, Va.

A candlelight dinner was held in the church fellowship hall.

After a wedding trip to Bonita Beach, Fla., the couple moved to St. Louis.

The bride is a graduate of Evangel College, Springfield, Mo., and is employed by Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis as a medical research technician. She is director of the Hybridoma Center.

The groom is a graduate of St. Louis Christian Academy and employed by Data Research Associates of St. Louis as a VMS specialist.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Borah

Phi Delta Kappa holds annual mini-conference

The Gateway East Chapter 1097 of Phi Delta Kappa, an international honorary educational fraternity, held its annual Kappa-to-Kappa Mini-Conference at a dinner meeting March 14 at the Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows in Belleville.

Dr. Clarence D. Haage, superintendent of Freeburg Community Unit School District 70, president, presided.

Members approved 23 nominees for induction in September, the first meeting of the next chapter.

Julia Triplett, District V area coordinator for PDK, presented Owen E. Humphrey, retired administrator of Granite City, who is a past president of the Gateway East Chapter, the Reavis Library Association membership. He was presented a medallion, lapel pin and framed certificate for his generous financial support for the PDK Educational Foundation.

To qualify for this award, Kappans contribute more than $1,000 to the Foundation.

Four chapter members presented concurrent workshops for the Mini-Conference. Elva Lines, Registrar at McKendree College, served as chairman.

Dr. Mary M. Polite, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville professor of education, discussed "Middle School Mania." She gave an overview of middle level education, presented the recommendations from The Carnegie Report, and explained the strategies of molding a school toward a middle level philosophy.

Robert H. Bresnahan, director of curriculum, Cahokia 187, spoke on "High Expectations in School and Community." He gave an explanation of the three newly initiated programs by the Cahokia School District — improve academic quality and quantity of students, expand community education contact to a positive extend, and help graduates reach their fullest potential.

Dr. Allen C. McCowan, superintendent of Edwardsville 7, spoke on "Financing: Where Do We Go From Here?" He reviewed where education stands in terms of current legislation and recent lawsuits filed by school districts challenging the state's adequacy of school funding.

Lucille Martin covers the Pontoon Beach scene for the Press-Record/Journal. She can be contacted at 831-0721.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy (Ruthel) Smith of Melvern, Ark., former residents, are spending a few days visiting friends and relatives. They came to attend the funeral of a relative. They are being accompanied by their daughter, Alice Smith also of Melvern.

The Bunco Club met Tuesday evening in the home of Edith Rogaschnik. Members attending were Robbie Wilson, Edna Bennett, Liz Gibbons, Joy Edwards, Linda McFarland, Doris Wilson, Sallie Kirksey, Joy Rowland, Verna Nelson and Karen Lember.

Peggy Smith has returned to her home after spending two weeks in St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The Pontoon Senior Citizens group would like to remind everyone about the big chili day on Saturday, April 20, at the Senior Hall. All you can eat chili, dessert and drink will be served, starting at 11 a.m. until 6 p.m. Tickets will be $3.50.

Kearns named to CEO board

The Civic Entrepreneurs Organization, a not-for-profit group of local business leaders that promotes the St. Louis metropolitan area, has named John J. Temporetti and Richard B. Kearns to its board of directors.

Kearns is president of The Delivery Network Inc., based in Madison. He also is a member of the executive committee of the Southwest Illinois Industrial Association, the board of directors of the Southwestern Illinois Leadership Council and the board of directors of St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Temporetti is a partner in the law firm of Gallop, Johnson & Neuman and a former chief of staff of St. Louis Mayor Vincent

C. Schoemehl Jr. Temporetti is active in a number of civic organizations and institutions, including The Saint Louis Ambassadors, Alexian Brothers Hospital Board, Southwest Neighborhood Improvement Association and the Missouri Botanical Gardens.

The 100 members of CEO are area business leaders whose goal is to promote the St. Louis region through a variety of unique special events. Past CEO events include the 1991 Missouri Valley Conference Basketball Tournament, an annual economic forecast luncheon, the 1988 World Indoor Short Track Speed Skating Championships and the 1990 St. Louis Sister Cities Soccer Tournament.

J.B. Hunt driver is honored

Area resident Charles Turner has been awarded a Driver Service Award for completing his eighth year as an over-the-road driver for J.B. Hunt Transport Inc. The award is given to drivers for each year they are with the company.

After completing two years of service, Turner received a J.B. Hunt service ring. For his third through tenth years, he will receive a diamond for the ring.

A.O. Smith predicting 'modest' loss in quarter

A.O. Smith Corporation says that it expects to incur a modest loss on operations in the first quarter.

Robert J. O'Toole, president and chief executive officer, blamed the loss on the depressed conditions in the automotive industry. First quarter sales of A.O. Smith's Automotive Products Company are expected to be 25 percent lower than the same quarter of 1990.

"Our major non-automotive businesses are performing very well in this recessionary economy, and we expect all of them to be profitable in the quarter," O'Toole said. "Unfortunately, the magnitude of the downturn in the car and light truck market is proving difficult to overcome."

O'Toole added: "It continues to be difficult to forecast our financial performance for 1991 as sales and earnings levels will depend on when the recession ends, and more normal automotive industry conditions returns. If the automotive industry recovers for the second half of the year, the corporation expects to be profitable in 1991."

Taracorp gets honor

Taracorp Industries Inc. of Granite City has been named a 1990 Top Ten Supplier by Newport News Shipbuilding in Newport News, Va.

NNS, a Tenneco subsidiary, employs 27,000 and is the country's largest privately owned shipyard as well as Virginia's largest private employer.

Taracorp was selected from among the shipyard's more than 3,500 active suppliers nationwide for the annual award. Companies are selected on the basis of product quality, on-schedule delivery and competitive pricing.

Newport News Shipbuilding is the only builder of U.S. Navy aircraft carriers and one of only two domestic shipyards building submarines.

NNS Vice President Julian F. Cox Jr. said, "Our suppliers make a major contribution to the success of our shipbuilding programs. We honor the top 10 suppliers to show our appreciation for their outstanding performance."

"These companies are leaders in their industry, and set the pace for the market. We congratulate them."

Shoney's reports record revenues

Shoney's Inc. has reported its 127th consecutive quarter of record revenues and pre-tax operating income before interest expense. The company posted a 28 percent increase in net income for the first quarter of 1991, said Leonard H. Roberts, chairman and chief executive officer.

For the first quarter of 1991, revenues increased 7 percent from $258,469,000 to $275,469,000. Income before income taxes for 1991 was $9,626,000, a 28 percent increase from $7,516,000 for 1990. Net income increased 28 percent from $4,735,000 to $6,065,000. Earnings per share were up 25 percent from 12 cents in 1990 to 15 cents in 1991.

General Steel workers to meet

Employees of the former General Steel Inc. Corp. in Granite City have scheduled a get-together for 8 a.m. to noon, Saturday, May 4, at the Township Hall, 2060 Delmar Ave., Granite City. Anyone interested in attending may contact Dean Graf, 931-2046, or Susie Horton, 931-1226.

Prairie Farms promotes two

Jim McCulloch has been promoted to general manager, Granite City Division, and Rick Klabie to sales manager, Granite City Division Prairie Farms Dairy.

William Guthrie, division manager and vice president of Prairie Farms Dairy, announced the promotions.

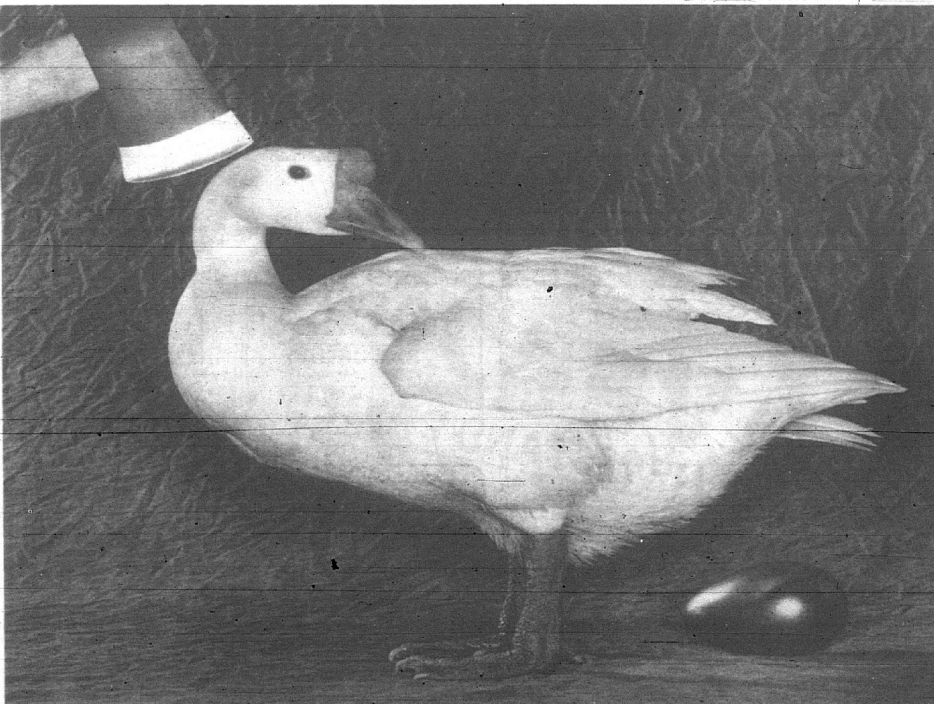

McCulloch will be in charge of all phases of the Prairie Farms Dairy Granite City operation. Klabie, who has been a member of the Granite City plant's sales staff, will be responsible for sales and service.

Blues face off against Cardinals for a night

Frustrated hockey fans, who may have thought that they would go neglected in this baseball city, need fret no more.

The Blues have managed to find their way past the flying fists of the Detroit Red Wings, and the first game of the Norris Division Championship series will be telecast on KMOV-TV, Channel 4, at 7:30 tonight.

A conflict with the home opener of the Cardinals had persuaded KPLR-TV, Channel 11, which usually televises the Blues, to shelve the Blues game in favor of televising the Cardinals. That decision is sound in a traditional way, of course, though baseball prospects being what they are, the notion that St. Louis prefers the sport to any other form of human activity may be tested this season.

Anyhow, the preference for baseball apparently left the city's growing cohort of hockey fans without a way to watch the beginning of its series with the Minnesota Northstars. But the Blues, with the same kind of elan which has taken the franchise to the top echelon of the National Hockey League, said the heck with that. They got permission from Channel 11 to offer the game to Channel 4.

Channel 11 Station Manager Dan Neumann indicated that his station had no problems with the decision. "We want that game to be on TV," he said. "It's for the fans."

Channel 4 Program Director Jim Rothschild appears undaunted by going head-to-head with the Cardinals.

"There's a very strong appetite for the St. Louis Blues," he said. "Add in the tremendous rivalry with the Black Hawks, and we think a lot of people will be watching the hockey game."

Could be. The baseball Cardinals will be nine games into their season (barring rain outs) before their home opener. They could have generated a lot of enthusiasm—or not.

History of photography topic of SIUE exhibit

"The Shutter Clicked," a history of the photographic process, will be the featured exhibit April 29 through May 23 on the South Wall exhibition area of the University Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Subtitled "Shadows to Pixels," the exhibit was compiled by

Ian MacBryde
Tonight is a big night for the St. Louis sports fan.

The week of April 1 was a big one for the news department at KSDK-TV (Channel 5)—no foolin'. The 10 p.m. news picked up four consecutive huge ratings, according to the Nielsen meters. On April 1 the program got a 27 rating, 43 share; April 2—26/42; April 3—25/42; April 4—26/43.

A rating equals the percent of homes in the market watching a particular program; a share equals percent of homes using television watching a particular program.

According to a spokesman, that represented the first time the 10 p.m. news had received a 40 share or better four consecutive nights.

In each case the program scored better than the combined totals of Channel 4 and KTVI-TV, Channel 2.

On April 5, incidentally, Channel 5 still led but with much smaller numbers, 16/28. Interestingly, in second place that night was Channel 2 with a 15/26, as far as I can tell the highest numbers that newscast has received for a number of years. Channel 2, which has been struggling for a long time, enjoyed an enormous lead-in, 25/41, from ABC's "20/20," which ran a story on an exorcism in Florida.

Undoubtedly, a lot of people who have not seen Channel 2 news for a long time had a chance to see it that night. Whether or not it will help the station over the long haul we will know over the next few weeks.

Perseverance in Hollywood's industry proves an Oscar for Clayton native

By Harry Hamm
Correspondent

Clayton native Cecelia Hall last month became the first woman in the 63-year history of the Academy of Motion Pictures Arts and Sciences to win an Oscar in an editing category.

Hall and her collaborator, George Watters II, were named recipients of the Best Sound Editing Oscar for their work on "The Hunt for Red October," starring Sean Connery.

In 1987, Hall also became the first woman nominated in that category for the hit "Top Gun."

The award that year went to "Aliens," and she says she was prepared to lose again in 1991.

"My mother, who moved out to Los Angeles 10 years ago, was sitting with George and me when the announcement was made," Hall says. "Mom looked like she was ready to leap over the moon when she heard my name."

The road to becoming the first woman to win an Oscar in this very specialized category began for Hall in 1954 on DeKalbville Boulevard, at the Apollo Theater, one of the first movie houses in St. Louis, to specialize in foreign and specialty films.

Hall remembers going to the theater almost every week with her mother Erma Hall. She says that as a child, she was always wild about the movies, and in addition to the Apollo, also went to the Tivoli and Varsity theaters in University City.

Hall attended St. Joseph's Academy and was a 1963 graduate of University City High School. The 44-year-old spent two years in England and Italy after high school, traveling and teaching English.

When her brother, Rocky, drowned in 1965, Hall returned to St. Louis to be with her mother. While here, Hall attended Washington University and majored in art history. She also worked as a summer intern at the Art Museum in Forest Park in 1968, leading children's tours and performing administrative chores.

"I really loved the museum and miss it a lot," Hall said. "I wish I could get back more often to see it. I'm not sure the people in St. Louis realize what a great museum it really is."

Hall, who says she has no ambitions to work in front of the camera, confesses that she has always wanted to be a film editor.

"I know how important movies are to people, and how much they influenced me as a child," she says. "Movies have the ability to transport people. I feel my job is to complement the visuals of a film by helping make them as real and convincing as possible. My responsibility is to instill real belief in the time and place of the picture for the audience."

After moving to Los Angeles in 1969, Hall spent a frustrating year getting nowhere looking for work in the film business as an editor. She finally landed a position as a negative cutter for a small independent film laboratory. She admits the job wasn't very interesting, but says in a town where the major business is making movies, it was the right place to start.

In 1978, with the help of George Watters, a noted film editor at Paramount and the father of her partner on "The Hunt for Red October," Hall was given a chance to work at an editor at Paramount where she has remained for the last 13 years.

"I don't actually work for Paramount, but I do have an office there and they have treated me extremely well and given me a great selection of films to work on," she says.

She has also worked on "Days of Thunder," starring Tom Cruise; the first three "Star Trek" movies; "Airplane"; "Flashdance"; "Witness"; and

"Beverly Hills Cop II" and its sequel.

Hall, who says she has taught herself a lot about the editing business because of a lack of courses on the topic while she was in school, is "presently unmarried" and owns a home in La Canada Flintridge, a suburb of Los Angeles. Kevin Costner lives around the corner.

"I don't see much of Kevin or his family because he's gone so much, but we do run into one another at a neighborhood bakery a lot," she says. "Kevin is a very nice guy."

Hall says she wants to continue working on quality films, but feels a strong pull to slow down and take a little more time out for herself and her mother, who, at the age of 70, is active in the real estate business on the West Coast.

"I'm proud of my Oscar and the opportunities I hope it means for other women in the future, but I really don't care if I'm ever nominated again," she says.

"I just want to continue doing quality work and getting the most out of my life. I'd also like to come home to St. Louis and visit more than I've been able to in the past."
